Mark Molina has been a personal injury attorney specializing in litigation since 1993. He has a diverse legal background which includes indigent criminal defense, corporate and personal injury law both as a defense and plaintiff's attorney. He is admitted and has actively practiced in New York and Georgia.

Mark is originally from the South Bronx in New York City, where he was born and raised. He attended Aviation High School in Long Island City, New York, where he trained to become an aircraft powerplant mechanic! After high school, Mark enlisted in the Marine Corps from which he was Honorably discharged in 1989, finishing up his duty as a reservist at Fort Schuler in the Bronx.

Mark channels his energy now into getting his clients the money and benefits they deserve after suffering serious injuries; also serving as a mentor for lesser experienced attorneys. Every day he fights for his clients, working to obtain the best results for them, always ready to apply his extensive knowledge and experience, whether that be in or out of court.

When not fighting for the rights of his clients, Mark loves spending quality time at home with his wife and three kids, along with his two shih tzu mixes, Pedro and Lucy.
